A HEBRAIC UNDERSTANDING OF THE BIBLICAL CALENDAR

Created, written and designed by: Rick Blankenship, Fellowship Leader, GIFBG (Last revision: 10/11/2020)

Edited by: Lee Miller, Fellowship Leader, HODF & Beth Mehaffey, HODF

Why did we embark on this calendar? Why not use what is already out there? Valid questions. Much can be, and has been, written on the Hebraic calendar. However, for our fellowships (GIFBG & HODF), we are endeavoring to abide by YHWH's instruction as closely as possible. While we have this calendar posted on our web sites, our audience target is for those who attend our fellowship meetings. However, if you examine what we have put forth, and agree with it, you are more than welcome to use it.

Prior to this "semi-final" product, we sought the counsel of several well known "Hebrew Roots" leaders requesting sincere feedback on our research. Only one acknowledged our request. To date, no feedback has been provided. So, we moved forward in our research which led to the creation of this calendar. We now invite you to review our research, and to provide thoughtful feedback. The following links will take you through the process. The first link is to a basic, easy to understand teaching on the more in-depth information contained on Beth's New Moon Series blog: 1) Rick's Teaching at Sukkot 2019: Link posted on www.gifbg.org; 2) Beth's New Moon Series blog: <https://tinyurl.com/HolyHighway-NewMoonSeries>. While this is the current understanding of our research, we constantly review and update our understanding -- hence why we will always consider this calendar a "semi-final" product.

Other items within our calendar: The HODF meetings take place on the first & third Shabbat days each month and the teachings cover multiple topics; whereas, the GIFBG meetings take place on the second & fourth (and fifth, which occurs once per quarter) Shabbat days of each month. For the GIFBG meetings, since we only meet twice a month, we took the liberty of spreading out the traditional one-year reading plan to be completed over a two-year time frame. In this way, all the Torah portions are covered without skipping any of them. We also read Psalm 119 through the first 22 days of each month.

The regular daily color schema is white and blue.	is formatted in this manner. Ps 119: xxx-xxx	in order to easily find the beginning of each month.	Additional information for each Feast day is listed within this section.	leavened Bread & Sukkot) have this color schema (alternating dark and light purple).	Friday, the last day of each Hebrew month, and each of the moedim. [6:01 PM] 7:28 PM (AD/D)	These are the graphics for the Astronomical New Moon (ANM) and the Full Moon (FM), with their times of occurrence.
All days begin at sunset, hence, the color schema	The first day of each Hebrew month is green	All of the Moedim dates are yellow.	The regular days of the two Feast weeks (Un-	Sunset times (see info below) are listed for each	All times are US Eastern Time Zone.

Lee has provided an in-depth study about when a day begins and ends. The study can be watched by following this link: <https://tinyurl.com/YomWhenStart>. Based on this teaching, we understand that the Hebrew day ends not at "sunset" or "sundown", but instead at "dark." With further searching, we found a website that provides daily times for Astronomical Dark and Dark. The Dark time provided by this website (set for Richmond, VA) is what we are using and is identified as (AD/D) on this calendar. However, we also list the standard "sunset" times as well, listed in brackets, i.e., [6:28 PM]. See: <https://www.suntoday.org>

Regarding the use of the Hebrew month names, which are derived from their time in Babylon and consist of many of the Babylonian gods' names, my first reaction was to not use the month names and instead, to simply use the numbered months: First Month, Second Month, etc. However, after researching this issue, I found the following study that was very well done. Based on their research and conclusions, I no longer have an issue using the Hebrew month names. See the study: <http://www.setapartpeople.com/the-names-of-other-deities>. You will also note the 1st, 2nd, 7th and 8th months have Biblical names.

☪ You will also notice on each month, the numbered year has a "circle-star" indicator, i.e., 5781☪. This numbering system is provided by Rabbinic Judaism, and is not agreed upon by many within Judaism. Furthermore, and more importantly, it must be understood that the Rabbinic year numbering system was purposefully established to repudiate Yeshua as the coming Messiah. By using this numbering system, one is in essence agreeing to their attempt to prove Yeshua is not the Messiah. Again, as with the month names, I initially decided to not use the Rabbinic year numbering system. But in the end, trying to establish a true year counting system has eluded many who have tried, and even if we create a new year counting technique, it's not like it will be recognized. So, we are left with using the numbering system in place, but we can at least make it known it is a false, Yeshua-as-Messiah-denying system.

Since we are talking about the Hebrew years, you will notice each month has the year identified in two ways, which are both the same numbers: 1) 5780 & 5781; and 2) ה'תשפ"א & ה'תשפ"ב. Without getting too far into the weeds of Hebrew numbering, the "apostrophes" within the letters are actually called geresh for the single ( ' ) and gershayim for the double ( " ). Their purpose is to delineate numbers instead of a word. When the numbers are within a sentence, it indicates to the reader that this is a number. The geresh indicates the "thousands" place (much like we use commas), and the gershayim indicate the last place of the numbering. In the case of 5780, the last letter (which is a "final pey") is separated from the middle numbers. To break it out, the letters have the following values: for 5780, the "hey" ( ה ) equals 5, with the geresh indicating 1000, so it is 5000; the "tav" ( ת ) equals 400; the "sheen" ( ש ) equals 300; the "final pey" or "pey" ( ף or פ ) equals 80. This can be seen as 80*300+400*5 = 5780. For 5781, the last letter is an "alef" ( א ), which equals 1. Again, the letters have the following values: 1*80+300+400*5. Finally, in the original Hebrew, the "final" letters ("kaf", "mem", "nun", "pey" & "tzadi") were not used for numbers (or held the same value as the regular form of the letters). It wasn't until later years the "final" letters took on the values of 500, 600, 700, 800 & 900, respectively. I hope I succeeded in keeping the explanation simple!
